Awaken!

There is a magic about dawn, a sense of both promise and anticipation.

All of us have known the experience – the stillness of the pre-dawn darkness, the first gentle glimpses of the rising sun, and the whole awakening of the new day. Farmers, surfers, rowers, early morning joggers, and Benedictine monks all know it well. It's a special time of day for them.

As it should be also for you and me. A Kairos moment. Paul, in his Letter to the Romans (13:12), calls us to be people of the dawn, casting off all that belongs to the night and to darkness. The day is at hand, the Apostle urges us.

Sunset is a quite different experience – a time for cosy, complacent gratitude, perhaps accompanied by a comforting cocktail. It's healthy to have thankful, sabbatical moments like that – perhaps for a figurative seventh of our lives – but that's not what dawn is about. Complacency and cosiness do not go with the start of the day. It is a time for energy, for decision, and for belief in what has not yet happened.

Before Pope Pius XII decided to change it, the Church's main Easter service was held at dawn – not at midnight or, even worse, the evening before. Whatever the pastoral reasons for the change, the liturgy lost a key element of its symbolism, one that John had built into his narrative of the Resurrection as its major metaphor (20:1-18). Mary Magdalene's awakening belief is associated with the light of the new day. Recognising Christ risen changed everything for her; nothing could be the same again. And Jesus' instruction to her: tell the others about this.

We Marists – like all disciples of the Risen Christ – are called to be people of the dawn. Indeed, to be prophets of dawn. It prompts us to look beyond the horizon, to imagine new possibilities, to have the liberty to build new paradigms. It is typical of us as Marists that our bicentennial year is not focussed primarily on celebrating what has been, but on looking ahead to what might be. We are at the beginning of a third century of the Marist way of sharing in God's mission.

Our theme for 2017 – Awaken! – calls us to this. Once again, we have put together a suite of programmes, events and resources to assist Marists across Australia to respond to this call. I invite all Marist schools, ministries and communities to avail themselves of the opportunities that are described in the pages of this brochure. Further details are available on the MSA website and app.

The day is at hand. Let us embrace it together and remember nisi Dominus ...

CELEBRATING OUR MARIST BICENTENARY

On 2nd January 1817, Marcellin Champagnat welcomed two young men into a house which he had rented in the town of La Valla where he was assistant pastor. Their names were Jean-Baptiste Audras and Jean-Marie Granjon. They became the first Marist Brothers, and the date became known as the Foundation Day. Later that year, these two Brothers began to teach the young people of La Valla, thus beginning the first Marist school. We look forward to this third century of Marist life and mission. The Australian Conference of the Marist Association of St Marcellin Champagnat will undertake this responsibility.

During the year, the Marist Association will continue to support Marist schools and ministries through its various teams and through the normal suite of programmes, resources and events which are provided by these teams. Additionally, there are several initiatives that are being taken to help Marist communities around Australia celebrate their Marist identity and belonging in the context of the Bicentenary:

The Theme

Each year we choose a theme around which to build resources and programmes.

The theme for 2017 is:

AWAKEN
MARISTS 200>

Marist 200> Lapel Badges

Bicentenary lapel badges are being commissioned, suitable for staff and students. They will be available in bulk. Schools, ministries and communities may consider a ritual for the handing-out of these at the start of the year. Resources will be available to assist ritual development.

Journey of the Bicentennial Paintings February-September

Four Marist art works have been commissioned from iconographer Michael Galovic for the bicentenary. The four subjects of the paintings are:

- Marcellin attending to the dying child
- The pledge of Fourvière
- The table of La Valla
- The 'May Miracle' of 1872

The first three are the international Marist annual themes we have used for the three-year lead-in to the bicentenary. The fourth commemorates the first Marist school in Australia at St Patrick's, Church Hill NSW, and its transformative influence on the young students.

These paintings are making a national journey, being hosted by Marist communities between February and September. The journey begins in Central Australia with a ritual welcome to country and blessing of the paintings. They then move in two pairs - one starting in Cairns in the far north, and one in Perth in the west. Passed from one Marist community to another and spending four or five days in each, all four are due to reach Mittagong together to coincide with the arrival of a group completing a Marist “camino” from St Patrick’s Church, Church Hill in The Rocks, Sydney. Throughout the eight month journey, school communities have the opportunity to receive the paintings and gather around them, with prayer and educational resources made available to help them to do this.

Awaken! Programme

All Year

The signature staff spirituality programme for 2017 is built around the bicentennial theme, to help Marist schools and ministries to enrich their understanding of what it means to be a disciple of Jesus and an apostle of the Gospel, in a contemporary Marist way.

Marian Lecture Series

May

During May, we have invited to Australia Dom Mark Patrick Hederman OSB, the Abbot of Glenstal, to give a series of evening talks and to lead seminars and workshops. It is hoped that the Marian Lecture Series, organised by the Marists of Australia and offered to the Australian Church, will become an annual feature of the Australian Church calendar. The “Marian lecture” is an evening event to which members of the Association, Marist staff and senior students, clergy, leaders of Catholic education and Catholic agencies, and members of the Church are invited. The theme that Dom Mark Patrick has chosen for the inaugural Marian Lectures is: Everyone’s Baptismal name is Mary.

The dates for the lectures are:
 Brisbane – Tuesday 23 May
 Sydney – Thursday 25 May
 Melbourne – Tuesday 30 May
 Gippsland – Thursday 1 June

There is a series of other events planned, including a colloquium for Marist Principals on Wednesday, 31 May.

A full itinerary of the visit of Dom Mark Patrick will be circulated in upcoming months.

Feast of St Marcellin

June

It is envisaged that most schools and Marist communities will, as is customary, do something significant for the Feast of St Marcellin on Tuesday, 6 June. Some print and electronic resources will be made available to assist with Masses and other services and/or gatherings that may be organised for this day. These resources will be aimed at celebrating what it means to be an Australian Marist today. Marist schools which are close to one another may opt to organise a collective event on 6 June.

Marist Youth Festival

July

The biennial national Marist Youth Festival (aimed at post-school Young Marists and senior school students) is to be held in Sydney (at St Joseph’s College, Hunters Hill) between 30 June and 3 July. It is also shaped around the theme of Awaken!

Bicentenary Celebrations

August

On Saturday, 12 August all Marists are invited to attend a celebratory Bicentenary Mass and Luncheon. There are to be three of these organised centrally by the Marist Association and the Brothers’ Province (in Brisbane, Sydney and Melbourne). While all Marists will be welcome to come to one of these, other cities and regions are encouraged to organise gatherings on the same day in their own places. A common Mass will be celebrated and resources provided.

Underground Cathedrals

A SPIRITUALITY FOR THE 21ST CENTURY

At this time the Holy Spirit is unearthing 'underground cathedrals' in unlikely places and people. In the lives of ordinary people the Spirit is calling us to the 'edges' to open us out through the 'cracks'.

You are invited to enter this conversation in search of 'underground cathedrals' with the wisdom of noted educator and spiritual guide Mark Patrick Hederman OSB of Glenstal Abbey, Ireland.

Whether we are educators or simply 'seekers' trying to discover the way forward—our mission is to allow the energy of divine love to stretch us.

This happened to Mary, the Mother of God and if she can do it, we can do it. In the words of Hederman: "Everyone's baptismal name is Mary."

Hederman is an educator, headmaster, poet, philosopher and public intellectual. He has been a monk of Glenstal Abbey in Limerick for over 40 years. Formerly headmaster of the school, he has just completed eight years as Abbot. Hederman has a doctorate in the philosophy of education.
